Hi all –

The Aux Sable Plan includes a discussion about erosion control. The attached class is about becoming a Certified Professional in Erosion and Sediment Control (taking the test is not required, you can simply attend the class to learn more if you'd like). This is one way to become more knowledgeable about how to avoid and address erosion issues. Perhaps staff from local governments or your consulting engineers would be interested in this? Please pass it to those you think it would be good to know about it. I thought the group might want to at least know about it.
